Climate resilient homes for 100,000 Australians

Giving to AEF as an organisation

Energise the Australian Energy Foundation to empower 100,000 climate resilient people.

For healthier people and a healthier world.

Together, we are practical visionaries

At the Australian Energy Foundation we have over 20 years' experience empowering Australians to:

- » cut living costs by reducing energy use
- » reduce emissions by adopting renewable energy and energy efficiency improvements, and
- » create homes that enable people to be happy and healthy.

We are ambitious.

We know we need to reach an equitable zero carbon society as soon as possible. With record-breaking temperatures and extreme weather events becoming more and more common, we can't afford to wait.

We have a plan, and you are part of it.

What is climate resilience and why does it matter?

See this explanation by the Centre for Climate and Energy Solutions.

We want all Australians to have access to the affordable and renewable energy they need:

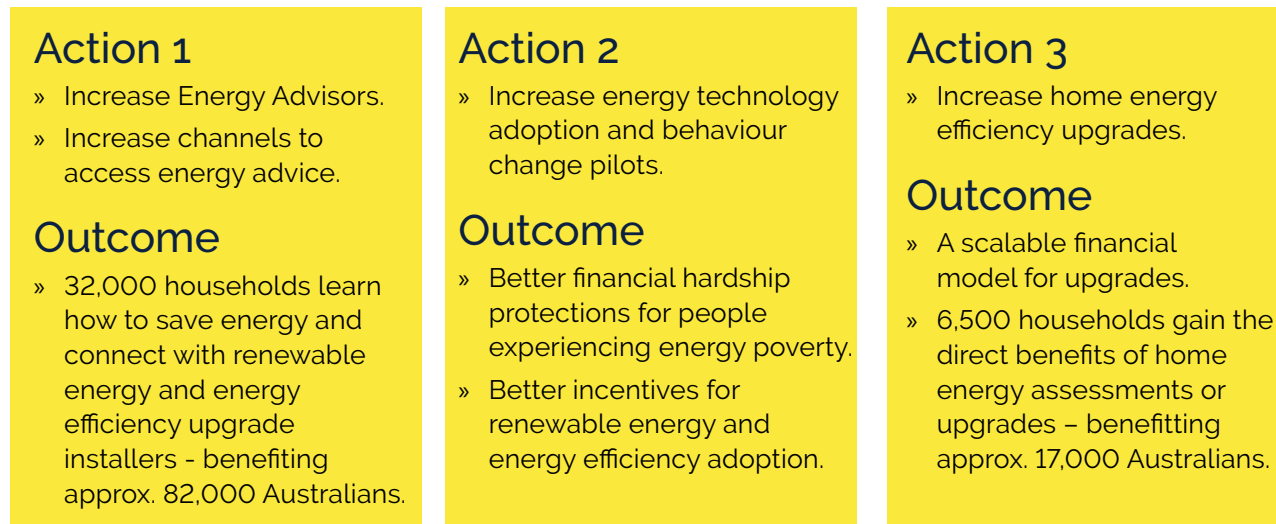

Together, we can empower 100,000 Australians

In 2020-21 we achieved:

With your support, we can expand our reach to 100,000 Australians each year to be part of the energy transition, resulting in positive outcomes for our community and environment.

Why the Australian Energy Foundation?

- » 20+ year track record delivering effective community energy programs and services.
- » An independent and trusted voice providing impartial advice on energy products and services.
- » Attuned to the needs of vulnerable people.
- » Strong network of partners, including community organisations, suppliers and installers, electricity distributors and retailers.
- » One of a very small number of community energy organisations that can reach policymakers and make the case for an equitable zero carbon society.

Together, we can deliver 10 critical projects
